Isikowsky and Kapula In Powerful Plane Off French Coast

RUMORS SAY THEY MAY FLY ATLANTIC

Polish Government Back Of Plans Which Were Secretly Made

Paris, April 28.—The Polish aviators, Major Louis Isikowsky and Major Casimir Kapula, hopped off from Le Bourget airdrome at 5 a. m. today, ostensibly on a test flight, but left a humming buzz of rumor behind them.

The official announcement made at the start stated that the fliers were leaving on a 20-hour trial flight along the French coast.

But when their powerfully motored machine gracefully swept upward into the sky, it was loaded with a fuel supply calculated to carry the fliers across the Atlantic.

Furthermore, the weather all along the southern route which the fliers had announced they eventually would take, was reported as perfect.

Secret Preparations

These two factors gave rise to much-credited rumors that the Poles were headed for the Azores on the first leg of their trans-Atlantic flight.

Their plane is powered by a 650 horse-power motor and is said to be capable of a nonstop flight of 5,000 miles.

Preparations for the flight, which is financed by the Polish government, have been in progress secretly for several months.

Major Isikowsky is a member of the Polish air force.

When the fliers left Warsaw it was with the understanding that they would attempt a trans-Atlantic flight, reaching New York about May 4. They were promised high honors, including an elevation in rank if they succeeded.

POULTRY THIEF IS SENTENCED

William Longanecker Is Sent to Mansfield For One to Seven Years

Lisbon, April 28.—Poultry thieves were given a warning by Judge W. F. Lones in Common pleas court late Friday afternoon when William Longanecker, Leetonia, was sentenced to from one to seven years in the Mansfield reformatory for the theft of poultry from the farm of L. E. Caldwell, Salem township.

Longanecker is 29, and has a wife and two children, one under the age of one year.

"It's a hard thing for the court to sentence a boy like you, who is just entering the threshold of life," the court said to the defendant after he had entered a plea of guilty to an indictment returned against him by the April grand jury, charging him with larceny.

"It is made especially hard upon the court because you have a wife and two small children. The difficulty is that the innocent family suffers as much as the guilty man. If the courts let all guilty men go free, we would have no punishment of crime. You may have thought it a light offense, or a lark, at the time. Offenses like yours are much too frequent. It is getting dangerous to leave property lay loose, even on farms."

THIEVES STEAL TWO NEW CARS

Lisbon, April 28.—Two new Chevrolet coupes valued at $1,300, three new tires and much garage equipment were stolen from the former Crubaugh-Chrysler garage here last night.

The thieves used a draw-bar in opening two large doors on the south side of the garage repair room.

In addition to the cars and tires, a vise was unbolted from the workbench and taken away. The thieves took an electric drill, a complete set of dies and caps and other mechanics' tools.

Knecheck placed four new cars on his floor yesterday afternoon. The stolen cars were insured. This is the third time this garage has been robbed in a year.

Of 240 paper submitted to officials of the Zaner company for examination, 142 were returned for qualification for a first-class certificate and 84 for second-class certification.

The certificate warrant that the students have reached the standard grammar grade set as a goal for all pre-high school students by the Zaner system.

Exhibitions of the accomplishments of the grammar school classes in penmanship will be placed in the show windows of the R. S. McCulloch Co. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

THREE DROWNED FOUR SAVED AT RESORT IN GALE

Steamer, Being Towed, Is Tossed On Beach At Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., April 28.—Three men were drowned and four saved when the river steamer South Shore drifted onto the beach here at the foot of Morris avenue today.

The names of the dead have not been learned but they are believed to have been the chief mate, engineer and quartermaster of the vessel.

The steamer was being towed from New York to Baltimore by the tug Susan Moran when the hawser either parted or was cut by the tug's crew during a heavy gale.

Coast guards took off the four survivors, who said the three others had been swept overboard by a huge wave.

The men saved were taken to a hospital, exhausted by their fight against death.

The vessel was said to have been commanded by Captain Noah Moore.

23 PLANES TO TAKE PART IN AERIAL DRILL

Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., April 28.—Twenty-three airplanes led by Major Thomas Langley, flight commander of the First Pursuit Group, army air corps, left today for a non-stop flight to Washington.

They will appear Monday in a special aerial drill over the national capital at the request of President Coolidge and will then proceed to Langley field for battle maneuvers.

A three-week tour of eight army air corps posts in the east and south will follow.

MARINES AWAIT REINFORCEMENTS

Prepare For Offensive Against Sandino In Mining District

Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, April 28.—With a squadron of fighting planes and a cruiser already here, and another cruiser due to arrive tomorrow with reinforcements, the American marines today continued their preparations for their forthcoming operations against General Sandino and his rebel followers.

The guerrillas who recently raided four American-owned mines, looted them of food and supplies and destroyed what they could not move, have fortified themselves in the hilly and almost inaccessible mining district.

Reports that Sandino was planning an attack upon this place have caused no alarm here. The 200 marines here are quite capable of defending the town, although they cannot risk taking the offensive against the strongly entrenched rebels until the reinforcements have arrived.

No further word has come from George Marshall, American assistant superintendent of the La Luz mine, who was captured in the raid, but it is thought he is still alive.

BREMEN'S CREW PAY TRIBUTE TO FLOYD BENNETT

Drizzling Rain Adds To Melancholy Aspect of Their Mission

PRICELESS FLAGS PLACED ON GRAVE

Crowd Watches Ceremony In Arlington Today Despite Downpour

Washington, April 28.—In a drizzling rain, which only added to the melancholy aspect of their mission, the German-Irish fliers made a pilgrimage to a new made grave in Arlington today and there paid an unstinted tribute of respect and admiration to Floyd Bennett, the heroic polar pilot, who sacrificed his life in an effort to aid them.

It was raining and dismal as the trans-Atlantic trio, Baron Gunther Von Huenfeld, Capt. Hermann Koehl and Maj. James Fitzmaurice, motored from Bolling field across the Potomac to the spot where Bennett was buried yesterday. They left the field shortly before 9 o'clock.

Priceless mementoes of the Bremen's epochal flight across the Atlantic were placed on Bennett's grave by the fliers. They consisted of the German, Irish and American flags which were brought over aboard the Bremen.

Miss Junkers Places Wreaths. Bare-headed in the slashing rain, they stood silently about the new made grave on the little knoll while attendants kept back a crowd which even the elements could not daunt.

Baron Von Huenfeld placed the German flag on the mound, a merchant marine pennant; then Fitzmaurice stepped forward with the flag of the Irish Free State, and he was followed by Major Horace Davidson, commandant of Bolling field, with the American flag.

Capt. Koehl and Miss Herta Junkers, daughter of the designer of the Bremen, laid laurel wreaths on the grave. One bore an inscription: "In fond memory of a great flier whose soul has flown to the last landing field." The other bore an inscription: "In memory of a faithful and gallant flier."

From the grave of Bennett, the fliers went to the grave of Lieut. Stanley H. Wooster, United States navy, who was burned to death some months ago while preparing a plane for a trans-Atlantic attempt. After a short pause there, they returned to Bolling field.

READY TO FIGHT OVER TAX BILL

Reduction Battle Opens Monday As Coolidge Veto Is Threat

Washington, April 28.—In the face of strong White House opposition, Senate Democrats today were prepared for a finish fight on their plan for a $333,000,000 tax reduction bill.

President Coolidge, while giving a casual approval to the $203,000,000 tax slash, proposed by senate Republicans, let it be known he was strongly opposed to the Democratic plan. The house bill, which provided a $289,000,000 slash also met with presidential disapproval.

Prospects of a presidential veto grew with the latest word from the White House inasmuch as the senate must hold its tax bill within the $203,000,000 limit or a $300,000,000 cut at least is unavoidable. This was the situation, because the house already has exceeded the presidential limits by nearly $90,000,000.

The administration's tax bill will be placed before the senate Monday, at which time the Democrats will submit their plan as a substitute. Debate probably will continue for a week or 10 days before a decision is reached.

All three plans carried some small increase in taxes, with a total estimated gain in revenues of $2,750,000. Of this sum, $750,000 would come from an increased tax of 25 cent on all prize fight tickets costing more than $5. The $2,000,000 increase would come from an administrative feature, causing a change in the method of filing some business returns.

Petitioning To Oust Mrs. Helen Baillie In Blacklist Fight

Boston, April 28.—An attempt was being made today, it was learned, to oust Mrs. Helen Tufts Baillie, of Cambridge, from the Daughters of the American Revolution, following the now famous "blacklist" controversy in the organization.

It was Mrs. Baillie who first unearthed the "blacklist" when she disclosed there was a ban in existence on many famous men and women.

Formal charges against the Cambridge woman contained in a petition was being circulated among members of the D. A. R.

Ladies Aid Division Plants Elm Tree In Park On Arbor Day

Division 1 of the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church, which observed Arbor day Friday afternoon by planting an elm tree in Centennial park, decided that each year it will observe the day by planting one or more trees in the park.

The tree was planted for the division by Troop 31, Boy Scouts, of which George Traylor is scoutmaster with an impressive ceremony. The entire group sang America, after which each person gave a quotation about "Trees."

The planting of the tree followed a regular meeting of the division held at the home of Mrs. A. C. Holderbaum on East High st., with Mrs. C. C. Ressler, associate hostess. Refreshments were served at the social period.

NEW MAHONING VALLEY DAM TO START IN JULY

Reservoir Will Be Built To Hold 10 Million Gallons of Water

Columbus, April 28.—Actual construction of the new Youngstown-Niles dam at Mineral Ridge, about one mile from Niles, will begin about July 1, it was announced by F. H. Waring, chief sanitary engineer at the state health offices here this morning.

After construction is begun it will take about 18 to complete it, Waring said.

The huge reservoir which will hold back 10,000,000,000 gallons of water, the engineer said. He added that it was to be 3,600 feet long including the earth embankments, and 50 feet high.

Besides the construction of the dam, a filtration plant and pipe lines to Niles and Youngstown will have to be constructed. Waring said that he expected the detailed plans for these to be submitted as the work of construction got under way.

It will not be until 1932, until the whole project is completed, Waring stated. This project will do away with the present filtration plants at Niles and Youngstown.

The general plans for the dam were approved last May, but it will not be until 1932 that the project will be completed so as to supply water to Youngstown and Niles. The cost is to be shared by a direct proportion of the property valuation of Youngstown and Niles, it was said.

Construction work will be in charge of W. H. Dittoe, chief engineer of the Mahoning Valley sanitary district.

REED LAUNCHES OHIO CAMPAIGN ON NATIVE SOIL

Makes Fiery Speech At Mansfield Last Night Near Birth Place

URGES CLEAN UP IN GOVERNMENT

Attacks Coolidge, Hays, Mellon, Daugherty; "Cal Is Tool"

Mansfield, April 28.—James A. Reed, fiery senator from Missouri and candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination today had formally launched his campaign in Ohio, after a speech at the annual Jefferson day banquet here last night in which he urged the Democrats of the nation to help clean up corruption in government.

Senator Reed returned for the first time in 40 years to the county of his birth. He was born near here.

The banquet last night was attended by Democratic leaders from all parts of the state. The Missouri senator, in his speech, denounced the Republican administrations of the last eight years in scathing terms.

He paid tribute to former Senator Alton Pomerene, favorite son of Ohio's democracy, and declared, "I didn't come into this state to take the presidential nomination away from Pomerene." He pleaded for unity in the party, "no matter who is nominated."

His text was, "when you hang up meat, the wolves will come," and he attacked vigorously the administrations of Harding and Coolidge.

He denounced former Postmaster General Hays, Secretary of Treasury Andrew Mellon and former Attorney General Harry Daugherty, all of whom he said, knew of the oil deals.

President Coolidge, he characterized, as "a tool of certain interests and under the domination of certain influences."

It should be the duty of a chief executive to help clean up the oil scandal, he said.

"I do not know whether Coolidge knew of the oil deals or not. He sat during the period in question by with Harding's cabinet. It may be that the transaction was so crooked and infamous that it was never discussed at a cabinet meeting," Reed asserted.

Among prominent Democratic leaders present at the banquet were: Lieut. Gov. Pickering, Congressman Martin Davey, John Harper, Herman Witter, D. O. Thompson, and Charles Truax, all state officials; Attorney Francis Paulson, of Cleveland, C. E. Wharton, of Kenton, Charles West, of Granville, and George White, of Marietta.

DISPOSAL PLANT NOTES ARE SOLD

$150,000 Issue Sold To Toledo Firm For $300 Premium

Bonds and notes to provide funds for the purchase of the new pump-out fire truck for the city and the construction of Salem's new disposal plant, were sold by City Auditor Helen Woerther yesterday.

The disposal plant notes, bearing 5 per cent interest, were sold to W. B. Slayton & Co. of Toledo for $300 premium. The Slayton company will also furnish blank notes, saving the city $50. The issue is for $150,000.

Other bidders on the issue were, Stranahan, Harris & Oatis, of Toledo, $295 premium; Ryan & Sutherland, Toledo, $290; Herrick & Co., Cleveland, $91; Otto & Co., Toledo, $293; Braun & Bozworth, Toledo, $298; Siler, Carpenter & Reese, Toledo, $85.

The bonds for the fire truck were sold to Otto & Co. of Toledo. Their bid on the issue of $13,721, was 4 1/2 per cent interest and $60 premium.

Miss Woerther stated that if the notes run for two years, the time for which they are issued, the city will save $260. A saving is also made by the city upon the interest, which in the last four years has always been fixed at 6 per cent upon both bonds and notes.

WOOD SUCCEEDS TO MADDEN POST

Becomes Chairman of the Powerful Appropriation Committee Soon

Washington, April 28.—Rep. Will R. Wood (R) of Indiana, will become chairman of the powerful appropriations committee of the house, succeeding Rep. Martin B. Madden (R) of Illinois whose sudden death yesterday shocked the capital.

The appropriations committee is considered by legislators the most powerful single committee in either branch of congress.

Under the budget system installed during the Harding administration, the appropriations committee exercises a life and death power over all money bills.

The passing of Madden probably means also, it was said, the election to congress of a negro. For nearly a quarter of a century Madden represented a South Side district in Chicago which is 75 per cent black, and in almost every election he was opposed by one of that race. Only Madden could have retained his grip on the district, his friends believe.

The Capitol was still stunned today over the passing of Rep. Madden. The body will be taken to Chicago tomorrow after noon for burial.

Champion Orator Of Ohio

Charles Wilhelm, of Toronto High school, who won the state finals of the international oratorical contest at Canton Friday night.

TORONTO HIGH BOY IS WINNER OF ALL-OHIO ORATORICAL CONTEST

Charles Wilhelm, Salem Entry, Does Very Well Friday Night In State Finals at Canton; E. Liverpool Girl, Given Second Place, Is Alternate

Canton, April 28.—Toronto High school, in Jefferson county, seven miles from Steubenville, boasts a student body of approximately 350 young men and women, but today it is the oratorical capital of Ohio.

Deibert Eugene Nixon, 18-year-old senior in Toronto High school, won the All-Ohio finals in the international oratorical contest, presented Friday night in the First Christian church where an audience numbering more than a thousand men and women listened in rapt attention as the five speakers expounded the theories of government in the United States as provided for in the constitution.

It was fitting climax to a competition which at the outset engaged the attention of more than 2,000 students in secondary schools throughout Ohio—and judging by the shower of congratulations extended the victor, the decision of the judges met with universal approval.

On the low point level of judging the contest, young Nixon was the undisputed winner of first place, receiving a first place vote from two of three judges and placing third in the calculations of the third ob server.

Miss Marjorie R. Hall, 17 years old and a senior in the East Liverpool High school, was awarded second place in the computations of the judges. Thus Miss Hall becomes the alternate for young Nixon, should any eventuality arise to preclude his engaging in the next step in the international contest.

By virtue of his victory Nixon becomes the All-Ohio representative in the international semi-finals on Friday evening, May 11, at Troy, N. Y.

Nixon took as his subject, "The Development of the Constitution." He was the only one of the five speakers to confine his remarks to this subject, and from the outset he disclosed himself to be not only a master of forensics, but a student able to logically carry forward the thoughts which made his oration an outstanding success.

With the poise of a finished orator, plus dramatic ability equal to that developed by many college students, he carried his audience through the contest.

Undisputed Winner. On the low point level of judging the contest, young Nixon was the undisputed winner of first place, receiving a first place vote from two of three judges and placing third in the calculations of the third ob server.

TRIO ON TRAIN ON WAY NORTH FROM CAPITAL

Rain and Fog Cause Them To Give up Return Flight Today

BALCHEN FORCED BACK IN JERSEY

Elaborate Plans Made By New York; Parade On Monday

Washington, April 28.—Storm-battered again by the elements which have conspired against them at every turn, the German-Irish fliers decided today to leave Washington for New York on a Pennsylvania train leaving the capital at 1:05 p. m.

Bad weather between Washington and New York coupled with the soggy condition of the flying field here, made it impossible for them to fly to New York as they had planned.

The decision to go by train was reached reluctantly, so much so, in fact, that the fliers elected to stay at the field until barely time to catch the train.

Balchen Forced Back. Miller Field, Staten Island, N. Y., April 28.—The Ford plane piloted by Bert Balchen, which set out from Curtiss field at 8:30 a. m. for Washington, landed here a short time later, forced by bad weather to abandon the flight.

Balchen had only one passenger in the plane with him, Charles Wenzel, a mechanic.

The plane passed over Staten Island about 9 o'clock enroute to Washington. When Balchen reached a point somewhere over New Jersey, he found fog and rain conditions so bad that he could not proceed without great danger to the plane, so he decided to turn back. He brought the plane down onto Miller field without any difficulty.

New York, April 28.—New York's official welcome to the three gallant airmen who flew across the Atlantic from Ireland, was to start today with all the pent-up enthusiasm of a long delayed celebration. It was to be a stirring prelude to public honor that is to come Monday with a parade from the Battery to Central Park, and the following night.

Awaiting the fliers when they arrive at Mitchell field from Washington this afternoon were to be Mayor Walker, Grover A. Whalen, chairman, and members of his reception committee; representatives of the Irish Free State and the leading German-American and Irish-American societies, Nassau county, government and army officials.

With them also was to be Dr. F. F. (Continued on Page 4)

DELAY FUNERAL BY INJUNCTION

Priest Gets Court Order; Will Asks Burial In Columbiana Co.

Pittsburgh, April 28.—An injunction order restraining William A. Dunn, an undertaker at 1228 Fifth ave., from making further arrangements, pending a hearing, for the burial of Catherine Boyle, 71, who died Tuesday, was procured in common pleas court by Rev. Lawrence A. O'Connell, pastor of Epiphany Catholic church.

In his equity bill, asking for the order, Rev. O'Connell states that he is executor of the will of Catherine Boyle, who was a lifelong resident of the city, residing in Forbes st., near Boyd st., and that she gave directions in her will as to her burial. He states that the undertaker has laid out the body at his place in Fifth avenue, has threatened to make the burial today, and refused to turn over the body to the plaintiff or his representative, Harry Hartung. He asks also that the body be ordered given into his charge.

A copy of the will of Catherine Boyle is attached to the petition. She directed that she be buried in St. John's cemetery, Summitville, Columbiana county, Ohio.

RENUMBERING STREETS

By appointing a committee to study the problem of renumbering all the streets in the city, and possibly renaming some of them, city council has taken steps to correct a condition which has needed attention for many years.

A few streets, two of them main thoroughfares in the city, have more than one name, creating confusion without any apparent reason for so doing. What once was Main st., is now Main, Roosevelt and McKinley. Almost every day one may hear some adverse comment by a visitor who is trying to find his way about the city. It does seem silly. And can anyone suggest a logical reason for cutting up the name into three parts?

Lincoln and Garfield averse, form a continuous thoroughfare and both of these east and west and north and south streets are links in state highway systems, traversed daily by hundreds of tourists. Think of their confusion when they discover they are on another street without making a turn. Lincoln and Garfield are names which extend far back into Salem's history, and yet they are but one street. More protests might be heard if either of these names were to be changed. Then would result if the main street were given only one name. But there always are some who object to changes in conformity with modern ideas.

More important than the changing of street names, however, is the renumbering of the streets—all the streets within the city. The block system is the modern way of numbering streets, and yet it is not so modern, for many cities throughout the country adopted it years ago. This plan provides for numbering each block by the hundreds, one hundred to a block, so that if your house number is 620, for example, the stranger trying to locate that number knows at once that you live within the sixth block.

Such a plan would be a great benefit to postal service, as well as to express, telegraph and all other delivery services. But regardless of what plan of renumbering may be proposed, it must be evident to all that some systematic plan should be worked out in Salem. Much difficulty has been experienced in placing a number for a new house and for other new building constructions because of antiquated surveys and records.

Renumbering of all streets is advisable, too, because so many houses are not numbered, and opportunity would be given every property holder to place a new number that could be distinguished from the street. In addition to the many advantages to be gained by renumbering, the movement would show a progressive civic spirit that deserves encouragement.

SAVE THE WHALE

News dispatches from Washington recently told of a meeting of scientists at which the demand was made that the whale must be saved. This caused no little wonder among laymen. Who save the whale? they asked. The story is interesting.

Coming of the kerosene lamp, the gas mantle, the electric light and the deflation of women's dresses gave the whale 75 years respite from hunters—but the world's increasing demand for soap has been this mammal's undoing.

The annual whale kill increased from 11,400 in 1921, to 25,400 in 1927. The largest of mammals may be as rare as the buffalo, mammalogists fear, unless the freedom of the seas in some manner is assured the hunted whales.

Soap makers and machinists who require oil for their most delicate devices, pay the money that sends ships and men into the seas where whales abound. A Norwegian whaler which recently arrived in New York had no difficulty disposing of 48,000 barrels of oil, the yield from 600 whales.

So, it develops that the whale after all is a sea-going mammal of immense value, but one which is being done to death by the ever-increasing demand for the products of its enormous body—oils and fats, mostly, although the by products from whale hunting bring the fishermen a neat profit.

What Others Say

YES, HE CAN FIGHT

As a result of his pronounced stand on the flood control bill, Washington seems to have awakened to a realization that President Coolidge is a "scraper." The awakening is belated and long overdue. Indeed, it is difficult for one outside the atmosphere of the Capital City to understand how anybody in frequent contact with the man could ever have taken any other view. Possibly the extensive miscalculation in Washington has been due to the custom prevalent among congressmen of making large oratorical gesticulations a substitute for battle, a practice that might easily create false ideas of what really constitutes belligerence.

The president's whole record shows that he is a fighter on occasion, a cautious one, perhaps, who likes to be sure of his ground before he goes ahead, a canny one who knows too much to waste his strength in petty squabbles or in hopeless contests, unless in the latter instance the real principle is at stake, but nevertheless a determined one when he gets into the game. The promoters of the McNary-Haugen bill certainly must have found this out. The member of congress and others who have tried to break down the economy program of the administration must have learned it. If Mr. Coolidge had not set his face like flint, the national debt would have been much larger today than it is. Those senators who from time to time have tried to run the foreign affairs of the nation for the secretary of state surely are wiser than they used to be. And now the people behind the monstrous flood control measure sent by the senate to the house are learning something.

The legend that President Coolidge is not a fighter is like the legend that he is not a talker. Both are based on a misconception growing out of the fact that the president seems no genius in doing either without cause.—Detroit Free Press.

CORINTHIAN EARTHQUAKE

Corinth, seat of the church to which St. Paul wrote two epistles, conspicuous in ancient times for culture and its school of ornate architecture, and in modern days principally for its location near the canal of the same name, has been practically wiped out. Earthquake shocks are reported to have killed some 20 to 30 people and to have destroyed 80 per cent of the houses. It is no new experience even for the modern city. In 1858 it was completely destroyed, then also by seismic disturbance. The present Corinth is small, estimates giving it but 4,200 people. The site is known to have been inhabited since 1,000 B. C. Wars, changes of dynasty and disasters mark its course through the centuries. Just prior to the alliance with Sparta against Athens, its chief commercial rival, during the fourth century B. C., it reached its greatest prosperity. Jealous Romans destroyed it in 146 B. C., but it was restored by Julius Caesar and that was the town which St. Paul knew.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

CHOOSING BISHOPS

Five bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church will be retired from active service when the general conference of that church meets in May at Kansas City and five new bishops will be chosen. The rule of the church is to retire the bishop at the general conference nearest his 73rd birthday. Those who will be retired are: Bishops Joseph P. Berry of Philadelphia; Luther B. Wilson of New York; Wilbur P. Thirkield of Chattanooga; William E. Oldham of Argentina, South America, and Francis W. Warner of Bangalore City, India. Francis Coke was the first bishop of the Methodist church, his consecration taking place at Leeds, Eng., with John Wesley in charge. That he might "preside over the flock of Christ in America." He died in 1814 while on his way to India and was buried in the Indian ocean. Then Francis Asbury was consecrated bishop at Baltimore in 1784. Through the years since there has been a long line of leaders selected for that high position. There are 37 bishops today, each presiding over an area, as their territory is called. The general rule is that a bishop may serve an area for eight years, but a bishop may be re-assigned to the same area if that is deemed best. Nine bishops will have completed their eight-year stay in one area when the general conference meets in Kansas City—Ohio State Journal.

Copious Tears Make Women Beautiful, Doctor's New Advice

London, April 28—Ladies, if you would be lovely, cry your eyes out!

This is the advice of a well-known English physician, who has studied the reaction of a copious cry on the average woman's features.

A good cry, he declares, has much the same function as the safety valve of an engine, in that it averts a possible explosion. This medium of releasing pent-up emotion is extremely valuable, he declares, in the preservation of womanly beauty.

CALM MIND FIRST REQUISITE TO REST

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Not long ago I got to wondering about the number of possible explanations to account for sleep. On giving the matter study I found that at least six separate and distinct theories are seriously entertained. To explain the cause and nature of sleep, innumerable investigators have pursued the subject for years.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Several theories are advanced that they may be dismissed at once. Others are so fascinating that they hold our interest. For instance, one group of scientists advances the belief that during waking and working hours substances are formed in the body which have the power to control certain nerve cells. This may be a toxin—a poisonous substance—which is capable of producing sleep.

According to this theory the stage of sleep continues until the toxin has exhausted its effects. During the quiet period, no new toxins are developed, so we awaken refreshed and alert.

If one is kept awake long enough the toxins accumulate and react become so poisonous, therefore, that life itself is in danger. Only sleep can effect a cure.

The best known and most readily accepted theory is that sleep is due to lessened blood supply to the brain. It seems pretty well established that during sleep there is a material reduction in the amount of blood going to the head.

Each of us has a certain fixed quantity of blood. Each of us has just as much space in the blood vessels. These blood vessels are elastic things, with muscular walls, under control of the nervous system. They may be made smaller in diameter, or larger, according to the action of the nerves.

If the blood vessels of one part of the body are contracted, that necessarily dilates of the vessels elsewhere, and vice versa. This is an essential arrangement to furnish room for the fixed quantity of blood.

During sleep the blood vessels of the skin are dilated and a much larger amount of blood is accumulated here. Consequently a reduced quantity goes to the brain.

Just what causes the contraction of the brain vessels, at the beginning of sleep, must be explained. Perhaps this is where the toxin theory fits into the blood circulation theory.

Anyhow, knowing that lessened blood supply to the brain is essential to sleep, we can understand why we must be quiet, calm and undisturbed if we would sleep. To get excited to drink stimulating beverages, to read highly interesting stories, to get into a tense frame of mind from any cause—all of these are fatal to sleep.

Sometimes the taking of a light lunch, or a glass of hot milk, stimulating the blood vessels of the stomach and causing their dilatation, will drain off enough blood to relieve the brain and induce sleep.

MONDAY, APRIL 30.
Man, ignorant of the law of force doth send the storm upon its course.—Mary E. Beers.

Monday's astrological chart shows many storm signals. Stress, strife and violence may be the order of the day nullifying all the possibilities of advantage and security against perils of various nature. Calm control and good judgment may save the day. Beware losses of property and means, as well as employment.

Those whose birthday it is are advised that violence, passion, contention and strife may, if indulged, negative all prospect of advantage. There are many hazards to employment, property and favor indicated during the year which may be nullified by firm control.

A child born on this day will need rigid training in all manner of self-control and restraint of speech and behavior, if success is to be wrung from adverse circumstances.

Leadership Is Aim In 4H Club Camp

Raising better chickens, pigs or calves is far from the sole objective of 4H club work among boys and girls. Development of leadership—ability to help others to help themselves—has become one of the most important functions of the work. Training in leadership will be emphasized at a third district camp which is to be held in Licking

County, Ohio, July 9 to July 14. Older club members will receive particular attention at this camp. Each county may send eight persons. It has been suggested by the District Camp committee that an equal number of boys and girls be sent to the camp if possible.

Instruction at the central district camp will be designed to aid the members attending, to take a leadership in each camp. How printing, camp craft, vesper and camp fire discussion work will be stressed.

Recreation plans for the central camp will be so worked out that they will assist them in supervising recreational activities in their county camps when they have returned to them.

Enrollments for the central camp should be made by July 1, through the county club or extension officials, according to the announcement which has been sent out from the state club headquarters.

CHURCHES

"THINK OF THIS"

"Blessed are the pure in heart." Matthew 5:8.

There is a suggestive painting called, "Face to Face with Their Former Selves." This is the story it tells:

A man and woman are wandering through a forest glade. Their faces are without nobility or purity; eyes bleared, depravity is written on every line.

At the point where the picture has taken up their history, they have halted suddenly, startled at what they see. Confronting them stand a boy and a girl, pure and fresh in the innocence of youth. They are face to face with their former selves. They had chosen the path of impurity, and the years told the tale.

Morning prayer and sermon 11. The appearance of Jesus during the Great Forty Days were, as it has been well said, Epiphanyes of the Body of Christ, which emerged at His Will from the hidden sphere of the Risen Life. And this for the threefold purpose of Conviction, of Instruction and of Consolation.

To those who should first witness to the world of Our Lord's resurrection a great Command was given. A great lesson was taught and a great promise was made. The great command was that the Church should baptize and teach. The lesson that in a careful and consistent walking before God we are not alone but Christ is with us.

The promise. It is as true for ourselves as for those to whom the Promise was made. That He who once dwelt with us, now dwells in us, and that His Presence in the midst of His own Society is the working power for consistent life. And Christ's promise holds good for all the days.

There's an old settler out in Oregon who says that the trees are so tall it takes two men and a boy to look at the top of them. One looks until he gets tired, then the other commences where he left off. And so it is with bills. Some folks have so many bills scattered here and there that it often takes the whole family to look after them. Father pays a few of them, then mother takes up the task while son John is elected to keep track of the balance of each account.

It's a lot of worry and trouble and work that can be eliminated by using The City Loan plan of settling up.

High Society Fads and Foibles Enigma To Onlookers In New York

By SHIRLEY KIRKE

International Illustrated News Staff
Correspondent

SOCIAL luminaries high in the rating of Park Avenue's best, are permitting their names and photographs to be used for advertising.

Cigarettes, mattresses, furniture, automobiles, everything, in fact, from flesh reducers and hair restorers to patent lighters and refrigerators, blaze forth in advertisements signed by Social Register four-syllable names.

This recent fad, though a profitable one to the donors of the signatures, was created by no less a personage than Her Majesty, Queen Marie of Roumania.

Duchesses, Countesses, Viscountesses, are listed by name-gathering concerns along with plain titles of "Mrs." of our own shores, and sold to advertisers for their use.

When a new night club parts its velvet portieres on the opening performance, the choicest tables are occupied by society ladies whose names are known across the continent. And they are there on "invitation of the management."

No check greets them at the end of the evening. Only the use of their names in publicity is requested in return for food, music, lights and show.

New York stores say they could sell gowns cheaper if the wealthy women would pay more promptly.

A prominent New Yorker bought and charged an imported black net evening gown with a smashing jade green bow.

Next day the gown came back because "it wouldn't do." It was put on the marked down rack because it had been worn, and had the woman been less important a protest would have been made.

A western woman, recently rich and new to New York society ways, summed up the situation as follows:

"The Chinese may be a strange people, but New York society women are far funnier."

students in oratory, aided by a voice which compelled undivided attention, young Nixon literally swept his listeners along with him as he carried them through the several stages incident to the development of the constitution. At no time was he at a loss for words. His reasoning was eloquent, yet simple.

The two young women, Miss Hall and Miss Doris Lucille Gates of Canton, and the young men, Nixon, Charles Wilhelm of Salem, and William Zeiler of Marysville. Each appeared in evening dress—the girls in afternoon frocks and the young men in tuxedos. Their stage presence, their deportment, the ease with which they presented their subjects, the exhaustiveness of the subjects themselves impressed the audience to such an extent that at the conclusion of the competition there were hundreds who declared they did not envy the judges their task.

Judges were Dr. Josephine L. Peirce of Lima, representing the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs; Congressman John McSweeney of the 16th Ohio district, and Elmer Landes of Wooster, former commissioner of the Federal Farm Land Bank at Washington. Judge Harvey P. Ake of Canton, representing the Stark County Bar Association, presided. There was a musical program interspersing the rest of the entertainment.

Young Nixon received a white gold wrist watch, the gift of the Brush-Moore newspapers, which sponsored the contest in Ohio. He represented the Steubenville Herald-Star territory. Miss Hall represented the East Liverpool Review territory. Miss Gates the Canton Repository zone. Wilhelm the Salem News territory, and young Zeiler the Marion Star territory.

San Diego Girl, Paralysis Victim, Fights Way Through School

San Diego, Cal., April 28.—It took high courage for the soldiers to go over the top, to cross No Man's Land through shot and shell. But read of heroic little Evelyn Christy and her brave fight for life and health, education and accomplishments, and a niche for herself under the sun.

In the midst of her junior year at the San Diego high school Evelyn fell a victim to infantile paralysis. A half term at school was missed, but the next fall she pluckily insisted upon returning to her studies, though the muscles of her right arm and the right side of her back were entirely paralyzed and her left leg was tightly bound in braces.

In Wheel Chair
Unable to walk, Miss Evelyn was driven to and from school by her mother in a car the door of which had been widened to permit the rolling in and out of her wheel chair. In classroom she was attended by two faithful girl chums, who wheeled her from one study room to another.

Courageously refusing to accept concessions from her teachers, Evelyn fought down the intense pain in her limbs and back and battled onward and upward, making up the credits she had missed the year before, all except English. Her right arm was paralyzed. Undaunted, she kept trying, and bit by bit, using her left hand to write until by sheer force of will she had partial control of her right hand months later. She finally pulled through English—and will graduate with her class in June.

And now, after a month of trying, Evelyn has learned to swim. The arm and leg that hung limp in the water, at the first few attempts are slowly but surely beginning to function.

Like Annette Kellerman
She hopes to emulate Annette Kellerman, who in her girlhood overcame the same dread disease by taking up swimming and sticking everlastingly to it.

Despite the awful handicaps, there are many bright spots in the life of Evelyn. One is the warm

RAILS LEADERS FOR THE WEEK

Money Market Confused Today; Swing Upward Started Friday

New York, April 28.—The long-expected announcement of the withdrawal of L. I. Loans and the Federal Reserve Bank's decision to raise the discount rate to 4 1/2 per cent, the two factors which have been the chief cause of the confusion in the money market since the beginning of the week, were both announced today. The Federal Reserve Bank's decision to raise the discount rate to 4 1/2 per cent, the two factors which have been the chief cause of the confusion in the money market since the beginning of the week, were both announced today.

Though four of the Federal Reserve banks, including the New York, had voted to raise the discount rate to 4 1/2 per cent, the New York bank refused to take similar action and the money market situation was somewhat confused at the week-end. The coming down of the market in the first three days of the week was generally attributed to the Federal Reserve Bank's decision to raise the discount rate to 4 1/2 per cent, the two factors which have been the chief cause of the confusion in the money market since the beginning of the week, were both announced today.

From the industrial standpoint the outstanding feature of the week was the rapid decline in operations and sales of the steel industry, which was partly seasonal. With the rails as leaders, and a number of the seasonal motor, copper and specialty stocks actively participating, a broad upward swing in stock prices was in progress on Friday, following the announcement of Lore's sale of Wabash and Lehigh Valley stock to the Pennsylvania road.

Market interest shifted to the so-called dividend rails, many of which have been rising brilliantly in recent weeks. New York Central pushed ahead to 190, the highest price in the history of the road, and new gains of 1 to 3 points were scored by Norfolk and Western, Atchafalaya, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio and Union Pacific. General Motors, Radco, Collins and Aikman, Consolidated Gas and other well known speculative favorites sold at the highest prices on the recovery.

New York, April 28.—Stock prices were fractionally irregular at the opening of the market today. The rails were steady as a group, with Delaware & Hudson up 1/2 at 216 1/2, Missouri Pacific gained 1/2 to 53 1/2, New York Central advanced 1 1/2 to 186 1/2, and New York, New Haven & Hartford rose 1/2 to 65 1/2. Delaware, Lackawanna & Western lost 1/2 at 145. U. S. Steel dropped 1/2 to 146 1/2, while General Motors sold initially at 192, up 1/2, for 1,500 shares. Chile Copper fell back 1/2 to 42, while Anaconda rose 1/2 to 71 1/2.

BENJAMIN FROS, C. S. WALLER

Mr. Fros made his money by "hard work," and Mr. Waller left them to play with. Here is one who was just plain lucky. "Barney," as his patrons know him, Benjamin Fros is a waiter in a Brooklyn, N. Y., hotel about 10 minutes from Wall Street, where fortunes are made and lost. Barney doesn't know Wall Street personally, but he has been playing the market for years. Well, these last few hectic weeks of violent activity on the big board have made millions of dollars for him. You see, however, he is still at his old job waiting on table at the old stand. We wonder what tip he is giving his boss who he is serving?

Foreign Minister Aristide Briand is causing considerable anxiety throughout France due to the inability of his attending doctors to reduce his fever. According to optimistic bulletins he is suffering from an attack of the grippe.

One fall of snow during thirty six hours at Roanoke, Virginia, according to the explorer Stefansson, was greater than an entire year's precipitation at Point Barrow, Alaska, 300 miles north of the Arctic circle.

Young Rudy Given Decision Over Rudy Thomas In Great Fight

CLOSE BATTLE BIG FEATURE OF MITT CARD

Olin and Jeff, Lisbon Boys, Win Prelims;
De Marco Kayos Mercurio In Sub Bout;
Smith Stopped By Injured Leg

RESULTS

Curtain-raiser: Young Olin, Lisbon, won from Young Zeigler, Niles, in four rounds. Weight billed, 105 pounds.

Preliminary: Young Jeff, 150, Lisbon, won from Kid Leeper, Hanoverton, 148, by technical K. O. in third round; scheduled for six rounds.

Opening feature: U. S. Carpenter, Pittsburgh, defeated Billy Smith, Flint, Mich., by technical knockout, in fourth. Weight, 126 pounds.

Semi-final: Cuddy DeMarco, Pittsburgh, substituting for Tug Phillips, Pittsburgh. Knocked out Phil Mercurio, Toledo, substituting for Indian Charlie Rogers, Buffalo, in second round, after one minute, 35 seconds of fighting. Bout scheduled for eight rounds.

Final: Young Rudy, Pittsburgh, won decision over Rudy Thomas, Detroit. Eight rounds, 140 pounds.

Judges—Dr. George Dunn and Walt Wiffler.

"Oh, what a battle!" Such was the general comment of the 1,000 fans that packed the Memorial building auditorium Friday night for the second feature fight card staged by the Mullins Foremen's club after the slam-bang mitt affair between Young Rudy of Pittsburgh, and Rudy Thomas of Detroit, the finalists.

And it was a battle—the best ever seen in Salem, old-timers that should know, all said.

Young Rudy was awarded the judges' decision by a unanimous vote but the consensus of opinion with the fans seemed to be that the Michigan colored lad should have received no worse than a draw. But as is always the case in close battles, the crowd hates to see either man get the worst of it, while the judges saw plenty of blows and fistic action in the battle that the mob failed to see.

There is no doubt about it; Thomas had everything on Rudy in cleverness, but he failed to make up for his lack of an aggressive offense sufficiently through that cleverness to win the decision. Rudy was forced to do all the leading, and started all the action that was in the fight.

Gives Rudy Four Rounds

Thomas had a neat little jab like the thrust of a rapier, but only used it in the close work of the scrap, and in the clinches. He had Rudy looking woozy in the sixth, when he socked two beauties in where it hurts the worst, right at the center of the solar plexus, but Rudy was clever enough to hide his hurt, and Thomas was not informed of his weak spot in his corner. At least he failed to shoot for it at any time after when he plainly was doing the most damage there.

Rudy won the fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth rounds, according to the dope sheet, while Thomas copped the first and second, and sixth. The third was even.

It looked very bad for the Charlevoix boy in the first two frames, when Thomas started out like a cyclone, and also in the sixth. But Rudy's marvelous recuperative powers baffled Thomas, who seemed oversure of victory at the start, and he marched through to the decision.

A draw would have been favorable to the crowd; a 100 or so hung around the ring for 15 minutes, booing the decision, but considering the two types, blows exchanged, and the aggressiveness, Rudy had the best of it.

De Marco Wins Easily

Two substitutes were on in the semi-final, Cuddy DeMarco, of Pittsburgh, substituting for Tug Phillips, and Phil Mercurio, of Toledo, for Indian Charlie Rogers. Phillips and Rogers were expected to form the main go. No notice of either substitution was given the press, and the fans were not informed about Rogers' non-appearance until they were all in their seats. No reason was given for Phillips' absence.

De Marco, however, put up a fairly satisfactory battle, but was again matched with a scrapper far inferior to him, and he knocked out Mercurio in the second round.

Cuddy started out from the bell, socking the Toledoan with everything but the sole of his shoes, and had little trouble introducing him into sleepland, after a minute and 35 seconds of fighting had elapsed in the second spasm.

Mercurio was sent down twice in the first, once for a count of six, and the second for 66, but the bell saved him.

Cuddy put on a little comedy here, hopping on top of the ring post opposite the spot where his victim flopped for his collection of senses.

Smith Injures Leg

The first bout of the triple-wind-up ended rather unfortunately. Billy Smith, said to be a Michigan boxer under suspension, fighting incognito, being forced to quit after he slipped and badly sprained and bruised his leg and ankle.

U. S. Carpenter, given the decision of a technical K. O. was leading by a mile and a half, when the end came, but Smith adherents claim that Billy hadn't begun to fight yet. That statement will be granted without argument. All Smith did was show a very pleasing smile, and a defense that was as wide open as the western plains are long.

Carp had him looking bad, but Smith was willing to take all he received, and took it easily. Carp took all three of the rounds fought, and was leading in the fourth, when Smith slipped.

The two Lisbon brothers, Young Olin and Young Jeff, won victories, and showed lots of future promise.

Olin won the curtain-lifter from Young Zeigler, of Niles, a four-rounder, after a slow start. "Zig" had the better of the first round by a big margin, but his fun ended after those three minutes, for the Lisbon high youth opened up a barrage of fists that kept Zeigler as far away as he could get from them.

Towel Ends Leeper's Bout

Olin's win was by decision. Kid Leeper's second tossed in a towel signifying that he had enough before he had been hit very hard. According to Red Mason, who refereed the bout, Leeper would have been able to get up before the count of 10.

After the first round, which was Jeff's easily, both showed much willingness to embrace, and figured conspicuously in hit and run proceedings. A kayo is always the greatest conviction with box-office patrons, but not the kind given Leeper. He never seemed to resent the action of his corner, though, arising as soon as he was informed that the fight was over.

Jeff showed a lot of strength in being able to push Leeper around the ring, and had he used the muscle power more on punches, he might have put an honest-to-goodness kayo over.

Aimee Has Dropped Her Bobbed Hair; To Wear Tresses Long

Los Angeles, April 28.—The "bob" which is almost as much a feature of spring modes as certain costume variations, has disappeared as far as Aimee Semple McPherson is concerned.

Arrangement of puffs and waves which indicate a unique and individualistic conception of the old adage: "A woman's crowning glory is her hair."

The tawny and singularly "alive" tresses which fell under the barber's shears about a year ago, causing a merry "tempest in a teapot" at Angelus Temple since certain followers thought short hair unbecoming to the dignity of an evangelist, have been salvaged and are still functioning.

At least they were observed today to cover the evangelist's "shornness" during all pulpit and public appearances. Sometimes they are doffed for a less formal "coif" at home, the woman pastor admitted.

Furthermore, these cars carry the official red tag "with an OK that counts" which shows the true condition under which the car is offered for sale.

"Beau Geste" and "Love" on Movie Bills For Next Week

"Beau Geste," "Love" and "Shanghai Bound" three outstanding pictures head the motion picture bill at the Grand and State next week.

Ronald Colman's "Beau Geste" was given highest honors as the prize winning picture of the year in an unbiased poll. It is one of the most dramatic pictures ever made, and the cast includes such players as Alice Joyce, Mary Brian, Neil Hamilton, Ralph Forbes and Noah Beery. It opens at the Grand Monday.

"Beau Geste" is a thrilling mystery story of love, courage, self-sacrifice and adventure with the French foreign legion in the Sahara.

Friday and Saturday Buck Jones will be seen at the Grand in "The Branded Sombreiro," and it is billed as a two-gun drama of a ten-gallon hat. Sufficient to say that it is one of Buck's customary westerns, and he generally pleases in a most exciting fashion.

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo—there is a team for any love scene. They do it up brown in "Love," the film at the State Monday and Tuesday, based on the great novel of Lyof N. Tolstol, "Anna Karenina." Gilbert plays the aide to the grand duke, and he falls in love with Karenina's wife, previously a most conventional person. Russian passionate scenes make up most of the drama.

"Shanghai Bound," a film story of revolution-torn China, comes Wednesday and Thursday with Richard Dix in the title role, that of a bucco boat captain who wins despite great odds in battles with river pirates of the Yangtze. He meets an aristocratic sort of girl, played by Mary Brian, and then romance enters the scene.

Johnny Hines serves us something from the farm in "Home Made," another of his series of comedies, which will be exhibited at the State Friday and Saturday. What he serves is jam, which he attempts to sell in the big city. His antics in search of buyers bring many laughs.

The full bills for the week are as follows:

GRAND

Monday through Thursday—"Beau Geste," Ronald Colman, comedy, "Too Many Hisses."

Friday and Saturday—"The Branded Sombreiro," Buck Jones; Charlie Chaplin in a re-issue, "Sunshine"; and No. 3 of "On Guard." Friday night will again be Discovery night.

STATE

Monday and Tuesday—"Love," John Gilbert, comedy, "The Fight Pest"; and Pathe News.

Wednesday and Thursday—"Shanghai Bound," Richard Dix, comedy, News.

Friday and Saturday—"Home Made," Johnny Hines, comedy, "The Best Man"; and Fables, "The Junk Man."

TONIGHT

STATE—"Bring Up Father," the old McManus cartoon strip in the movies. It's a real laugh.

GRAND—"A Girl in Every Port," a globe-trotting romance.

COMING

The month of May will bring many of the best pictures, just now being released, to Salem. The Grand and State have lined up the following:

"The Crowd," a King Vidor production now playing Broadway at $2.

"Fireman Save My Child," starring Beery and Hutton.

"Underworld," with George Bancroft, Olive Brook, Evelyn Brent, Larry Simon.

"No Place to Go," a Broadway to South Sea comedy romance with Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes.

"Why Sailors Go Wrong," with the comedy team of "What Price Glory" and "The Day Retreat."

"Old Ironsides," with Esther Ralston, Wallace Beery, George Bancroft, Charles Farrell. A James Cruze production.

"The Patsey," with Marion Davies.

"Chang," the greatest jungle picture ever made.

"Arizona Wildcat," with Tom Mix.

"Hula," with Clara Bow.

"The Big City," with Lon Chaney.

"Nevada," a Zane Gray story.

"Flying Romances," with Charlie Murray, George Sidney.

"We're All Gamblers," with Thomas Meighan.

"The Way of All Flesh," with Emil Jannings.

"The Legion of the Condemned," a picture of the aviation of the World war.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, April 28.—Transparent coats that show the dress underneath are a feature of spring and summer. They vary from a plain color over a flowered frock to the alliance of two colors or more.

A black chiffon coat goes with a white frock richly embroidered in floral design; another of the same material covers a black and white chiffon frock. In a navy-blue and white georgette ensemble, the coat is of navy-blue made with the blue sleeves set with white georgette below the elbow in an openwork lace design.

Neat tailored ensembles are made in unlimited light materials. Some are made of fine face cloths, so light that they can be allied with georgette.

A great many summer ensembles are of crepe mouline and crepe pullette, as well as crepes with a reserve side, such as bagatelle. Ensembles made with matching coats of satin worn over flowered georgette or chiffon frocks are almost too elaborate to use for ordinary wear.

Prince of Wales Is User of Typewriter

London, April 28.—Edward, Prince of Wales, may now be added to the ranks of the "two-fingered" stenographers of the world.

Visiting a women's hotel in the East End here, the Prince watched a young stenographer rapidly write a letter.

"You can work that machine very fast," he commented. "I am afraid I could not manage it at all."

"I can only use a portable machine, and even then only write with two fingers. I am a rank amateur."

The Prince revealed he uses his small machine mostly on train journeys to make copies of speeches he had to deliver.

THE HOME KITCHEN

—By Jeannette Young Norton—

A Choice Selection of Clear Soups

The quality of clear soup depends upon a good foundation stock with veal and fowl to add flavor and gelatinous substance. All grease is removed and the stock is cooked gently a second time to reduce it to the desired richness. It is then strained through a damp cheesecloth, after it has been cleared by the white of an egg and the broken shell stirred through it. Various colorings and made garnitures are added by the way of decoration to the soup as they may be desired. These soups are very popular for spring and summer use and may be served hot or cold.

Cold Chicken Soup

This is a general favorite served cold in cups with a teaspoonful of whipped cream on top of each portion. Select a heavy boiling chicken, singe, clean, wash and truss it as for boiling. Put the chicken in the pot with a knuckle of veal weighing a pound and a half, a shin of beef the same weight, pepper, salt, an onion stuck with four cloves, and a cup-up vegetable soup bunch. Add four quarts of water and cook gently, closely covered, until the chicken is tender. Then lift it and set it aside for creaming or any other use. Continue to cook until the meat cooks from the bones, then strain through a fine sieve, cool, remove the grease, reheat, adding a tablespoonful of butter and two tablespoonfuls of sago, cook until slightly reduced, add the white of an egg and the broken shell stir and cook two minutes, then strain through a course damp cheesecloth and set to chill. Should any bits of fat appear when the soup is cold remove with white blotting paper.

Clear Tomato Soup

Put two large cans of tomatoes and four cans of water into the soup pot with a bunch of soup vegetables washed and cut up. Add a half bud of garlic, a small onion with two cloves stuck in it, chopped celery leaves, six or eight chicken feet split, denuded of nails, and scraped, and a veal knuckle bone. Cover and cook gently for one hour, season with salt, pepper and a little sugar, then strain, reheat, adding a tablespoonful of sago, or tapioca, and cook until it is melted. Then add the white of egg and the broken shell, stirring well, then strain through damp cheesecloth and set to cool. Remove all grease. Serve hot or cold.

Transparent Soup

Put four pounds of knuckle of veal, two ounces of blanched and chopped almonds, one blade of mace, pepper, salt, a stalk of celery, a small sliced onion and three quarts of water. Cook gently until reduced about one-half, then strain, cool, remove all particles of grease. When ready, reheat and add a heaping tablespoonful of vermicelli, cook for 12 minutes, then serve hot or cold.

Fresh Cherry Soup

Stone two pounds of fresh ripe cherries and put them into a sauce-

Ohio State Straw Vote Shows Swing Toward Al. Smith

Columbus, April 28.—In spite of the nomination of Charles C. Dawes for the presidency of the United States in the student mock political convention held recently at Ohio State university, a straw vote tabulated this week by the Ohio State chapter, the university daily newspaper reveals that the sentiment of the Buckeye students are with Gov. Al. Smith of New York.

Although the popularity of the straw vote was hindered by the interest in the mock convention, nearly 1000 votes were cast in the preference ballot issued to the students by the Lantern staff.

Smith, the popular Democratic candidate, polled a total of 306 votes in the balloting with Herbert Hoover of California running second with 216 votes.

A remarkable strong sentiment has been created among the students for Will Rogers, Beverly Hills mayor, journalist and actor, since his appearance in Columbus several weeks ago. "Congressman-at-large" won third place in the straw vote polling a total of 162 votes. Fourth place was taken by Charles Evans Maizius, Crimby prize Holstein cow of the college of agriculture at the university and winner of the queenship of the annual homecoming celebration two years ago against a field of eight co-ed candidates, had one supporter in the balloting.
